1. The Schkenditz (M52/E 12) airfield was still unoccupied and unguarded. Police sentries occasionally patrolled the field. The obstacle lights, which were intact, were tested by the responsible firms once a month by order of the local Volkspolizei. The boundary lights were not intact. The underground fuel containers were still there, but the parts above ground were destroyed. The flight control station was vacant and the windows and doors were partially destroyed or stolen. *
